LEPEDEZA PROPE SOUTHERN CROP

Easily Cured—Fine for Soil.
May Be Planted Until March 15.

In response to the many inquiries now coming in to the bureau of farm development of the Memphis chamber of commerce for information as to planting lepedeza, the bureau is giving out the following information for the guidance of farmers in the territory adjacent to Memphis:

Lepepeza can be planted any time now up to March 15. If it is to be planted for hay, good land should be selected. If the land is already in oats or other small grain the seed can be sown directly upon the grain and covered with a smoothing harrow.

Where the land has not been planted to a small grain crop it should be disked to prepare a good seed bed. A bushel of seed to the acre should be planted and covered lightly with a roller or smoothing harrow.

In quality of hay lepedeza is equal to alfalfa and is one of the few hays that will stand for a period of 15 to 20 days without material deterioration. It is easily cured, requiring only three or four hours of sunshine. This legume is one of the most easily marketable of Southern hays, having a wide demand at splendid prices. The seed that can be caught as the hay is cut is also a profitable cash product.

As a pasture crop lepedeza furnishes good grazing in the summer and fall, and it is one of the best soil builders of this section.

In starting it in the pasture, go over the land with a disk and sow the seed, running over them with a smoothing harrow to secure the best seed. The bare places in the pasture should receive special attention. Fertilizers can be used here to good advantage, and an application of lime will help the crop wonderfully. Acid phosphate, too, will add to the value of the crop. As in the fields a bushel of lepedeza should be planted to the acre to insure a good growth, though smaller plantings will give a stand which will thicken up the next season.

JACKSON, Tenn., Feb. 24. (Sp.)—Tolbert Vincent, of the Hatchie community of this county, is $2,300 richer for a day's plowing during the past week, and another installment of $1,000 in gold buried during the Civil war has been discovered.

The latest find was sealed up in oil and stuff bottles and was of $1,250, $5 and $10 pieces. This is only one of several lots of this treasure which have been found during the past several years, but none of it has ever been found while parties were searching for it.

BOLSHEVIK HANDBILL FOUND AT PINE BLUFF

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 24. (Sp.)—Some time Saturday night a Bolshevik handbill was slipped into the cabin of the watchman at the Cotton Belt shops. R. B. Hardy, who found the handbill and took it to J. E. Callahan, superintendent of the railway. An investigation is being made by the railway officials and Judge H. J. Kerwin, special agent for the department of justice.

The handbill is headed "The Russian Soviet Republic Speaks to President Wilson" (note of soviet communique of foreign affairs transmitted Oct. 24, 1918) and is signed People's Commissaire of Foreign Affairs, G. W. Tchitcherine.

The dodger says that although six months have passed since President Wilson made certain promises to free Russia, he has done nothing to prove his sincerity. It also says that the soviet represents 80 per cent of the Russian population and the annulment of all war loans and declares that "the league of nations should be based on the recognition of the capitalists of all countries."

A warning is given to the working men against the "capitalist league," and there are also a number of questions asked the president with regard to what the allies will demand of Russia.

CHEAPEST FEED FOR CITY MILK COWS

County Demonstration Agent
Tells How and What to Feed.

For the benefit of the Memphis householders, who keep a cow to supply the family needs in milk and butter, and who often is not a practical dairyman, Lieut. W. M. Landess, county agent for Shelby, has prepared a bulletin on feeding the city cow. It follows in part:

"We must consider her a machine for making milk and run her to full capacity. The great fault with the average feeder is that he forgets that 85 per cent of the food fed goes to just maintain the machine in order. Many often just give that 65 per cent of a feed and the feed that would make real profit is never fed. It is the last 35 per cent that gives us our milk."

"Considering present prices, a dairy feed costing 10 cents a bushel, as outlined above might be made as follows:

Cottonseed meal 100 pounds
Corn chops 100 pounds
Wheat bran 100 pounds
Salt 3 pounds

Mix them all together. Kill and feed from 3 to 4 pounds (a quart is a pound) of this mixture for every pound of milk the cow gives (a pint of milk weighs about a pound). Also give from 8 to 12 pounds of good alfalfa or clover hay."

To increase her capacity, or not, increase her grain gradually. If for every three pounds of grain she gives a pound of milk, she is obtaining, she has probably been fed below capacity. As a standard to go by, a 1,000-pound cow giving 20 pounds (2 1/2 gallons) of 4 per cent milk requires seven pounds of the above grain mixture for every pound of milk given.

"Feed at the same hour every day. Give one-half the feed in the morning and one-half in the afternoon. It makes no difference which is given first, the hay or grain."

"The cow gives milk because she has the pure water she will drink. Curry or brush her all over every day to keep her skin clean and free from dirt. Observe her likes and dislikes and learn to be able to tell her condition and her needs."

ARKANSAS WOMAN SUES FOR HALF OF PROPERTY

CONWAY, Ark., Feb. 24. (Sp.)—A special term of the Faulkner chancery court will be held here Feb. 28, to decide the case of Mrs. Kate Lasley, who has sued her divorced husband, S. E. Lasley, a prominent merchant of Enola, for a division of their property, which she charges was the result of their joint work and accumulations. In the counter-action filed in answer to Mrs. Lasley's suit for divorce, Mrs. Lasley charged that her husband had rid himself of her in order that he might marry Ora Grimes, a 19-year-old girl of Enola, with whom Mrs. Lasley charged her husband had become enamored.

Following the granting of the divorce, Mrs. Lasley was ordered by the county court to the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases. Treatment there restored her, she says, and she has instituted a counter-suit for a division of the property. Judge Sam Fraughton, of Little Rock, former justice of the state supreme court, is now counsel in the action. Judge Jordan Sellers will hear the action by request of both litigants.

B. Lowenstein & Bros Just One More Day of Our Reduced Sale of Linens White Goods and Counterpanes

An Earnest, Straightforward Statement in Regard to the Linen and White Goods Situation

There may be some people who are putting off the buying of this class of merchandise, cherishing the hope that prices will before long drop back to figures approximating those quoted in 1914. Such a hope seems impossible of fulfillment. The best authorities on the situation express the belief that prices on these commodities will not be cheaper for a long while to come—and then the reduction will not be very great. They base their opinions on the scarcity and costliness of flax and the dearth of raw materials generally—and the higher costs of manufacture and distribution.
